This Copyright Agreement aims to guarantee that only original material is published, giving however significant freedom to authors. The inScience Press Copyright Agreement is very flexible, meaning that there is no copyright transfer to the publisher and the authors hold exclusive copyright to their work.

The author(s) herein agree that:

- ✓ The copyright to the contents mentioned above belongs to the author(s) of the contents submitted for publication.
- ✓ The author(s) is allowed to: revise, reproduce, distribute, publicly perform, and publicly display the contents; to republish the contents, provided that inScience Press is mentioned as the source of the first publication; to prepare works originated from these contents; to apply all other proprietary rights to the contents (such as patents); to authorize others to make use of the contents.
- ✓ Author(s) transfer to inScience Press all rights: to publish the contents, in whole or in part, by various means such as hard copy or electronic copy formats, and in any and all forms of media, now or hereafter known; to republish, distribute, promote, publicly perform, and publicly display the contents at any time and in all inScience Press projects.
- ✓ inScience Press is responsible for the distribution of its publications throughout the world and wants to ensure that the material submitted to its publications is properly available to the readership of those publications. Authors must ensure that their contents meet all the requirements, including provisions covering originality, authorship, author responsibilities and author misconduct.
- ✓ Author(s) must only submit original work that hasn't appeared elsewhere for publication, nor is under review for another refereed publication.
- ✓ Authors(s) must confirm whether disclosure of their material, content and photographs requires the prior consent of other parties and, if so, should obtain it.
- ✓ Research carried out in collaboration with other scholars must have the approval of all authors, on submitting the contents.
- ✓ Statements and opinions expressed in the contents are those of the Author(s) and not those of the editors or inScience Press. inScience Press takes no responsibility for the accuracy of information contained in the published contents. inScience Press also doesn't assume responsibility or liability for any damage or injury to persons or property arising out of the use of any materials, instructions, methods or ideas contained inside the contents.
- ✓ The Author(s) agrees to indemnify inScience Press against all losses, costs and expenses (including legal costs and expenses) arising from claims made by other parties due to the exceptional circumstance that the author has breached any terms, conditions and/or warranties concerning the authorship of the contents (the whole or parts of it), the rights to publish the contents or the infringement of any third party's rights.
- ✓ If the Author(s) has prepared the contents as part of his/her official duties as an employee or officer of a Government Agency, Public Institution or Company which has copyrights that belong to the employer/institution, inScience Press agrees to accept their terms and conditions if they are not in conflict with inScience Press Copyright Agreement.
- ✓ Presentations' recordings are made electronically accessible as video / data stream and as video / data files for download in internet portals / websites freely accessible to the public for the presentation of your activities and by the users with the rights of use the Creative Commons – BY – NC – ND (Attribution-Noncommercial-No Edits).
